Developing connections to support children, youth & families

We invite you to join us!

Dolph Pulliam —

It Doesn't Matter How You Begin, But How You Finish

Life for Dolph was hard, growing up in Mississippi as one of nine children whose parents picked cotton for a living. Even more difficult was the tragic death of his parents that resulted in his move to Gary, Indiana. What happened next is a testament to the magic of the right combination of positive guidance, loving community support and the desire to succeed. Please join us to hear Dolph as he shares his life story of hardship, mentors and a loving community of support.

A special part of this presentation will be recognition of volunteers who serve Central Place Family Resource & Community Education Center, which serves children, youth and families from the Southeast Polk community.
